

EXCHANGE SCHOLAR PROGRAM APPLICATION

PURPOSE

The Exchange Scholar Program enables a graduate student enrolled in a doctoral program in one of the participating institutions to study at one of the other graduate schools for a limited period of time so as to take advantage of particular educational opportunities not available on the home campus. In the case of a student accompanying a dissertation advisor who has joined the host school, more than a year's enrollment as an Exchange Scholar is permitted. The academic experience, including courses taken and/or research conducted with particular faculty at the visited institution will be registered on the academic record maintained by the student's home institution.

The graduate schools of the institutions listed on the program description are participants in the Exchange Scholar Program. If you are currently in a Ph.D. program at one of these institutions (your "home institution") and wish to study for a term or academic year at another (the "visited" or "host" institution), you should read the program description and complete the application as indicated. All approvals must be obtained two months before the registration date at the host institution.

Please be aware that the host institution may charge an application fee or fees for services that are not covered by tuition such as health and hospitalization charges. It is your responsibility to meet these charges.

Terms and Conditions

The following are to be regarded as minimal terms and condition of the program. Individual institutions may choose to establish more rigorous criteria, e.g., for eligibility or duration of study. Definitions (e.g., of “term” “academic year”, and “hospitalization coverage”) may also vary according to local policy and practice.

1. ELIGIBILITY – normally students will be eligible to be Exchange Scholars only after they have completed one full academic year in residence in a graduate degree program at their home institution.
2. DURATION – a minimum of one term of study and a maximum of one academic year will be permitted in the program. The operation of this program during the summer sessions will be at the discretion of the host and home institutions.
3. REGISTRATION STATUS – Exchange Scholars will be registered by the home and host institutions in whatever category (“in absentia”, “in residence”, “special student”, “Exchange Scholar”) or appropriate at each place.
4. TUITION AND FINANCIAL AID – tuition will be charged and collected, and any financial aid will be provided by the student’s home institution.
5. HEALTH AND HOSPITALIZATION COVERAGE – the institution which the student is visiting will be responsible for assuring that hospitalization and health services are locally available. However, the host institution may either charge the student for such services or require that the student purchase coverage from the home institution.
6. BENEFITS – at the institution visited, Exchange Scholars will be accorded all the benefits of that institution’s resident students. They will receive a student ID card which permits access to the host institution’s libraries, labs, health facilities, athletic facilities, housing (as available) and the like. Where these services entail fees in addition to tuition, the host institution will charge Exchange Scholars the same fees it charges its own graduate students.
7. INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS – international students are understood to be under the continuing sponsorship of their home institution. All US Immigration Services work for them must be done through the international student advisor at the home institution. International students on F-1 visas should note that they are not allowed to work at the host institution unless they obtain prior written approval from the Visa Office at the host institution.
8. RECORDS – upon completion of each term, officials of the institution visited will collect the information concerning the Exchange Scholar’s course of study and forward it (with appropriate stamps/seals and signatures) to the Graduate School Dean of the student’s home institution. Normally, this information will include the course record (title, number, instructor, credit or class hours and grade received) and any special research conducted under the auspices of a faculty member. The information will then be posted on the student’s academic record or made part of the record as appropriate to the home institution.
9. NOTIFICATION – the home institution will be responsible for notifying third parties of the Exchange Scholar’s status and activities.
