In This Issue | May 3

- University Administrative Fellowships | Apply Now!
- Seminar: Analyses/Actions for Potential Commercialization of Your Research | May 3
- GradSpeak | May 8
- Princeton Research Day | May 10
- Graduate Student Fellowships | The Pace Center
- Summer Career Connections | Princeton in Washington
- The McGraw Center | Graduate Student Academic Consultations
- Carpe Careers Blog | Should you see a counselor or a coach for career advice?

University Administrative Fellows (UAFs) | Apply Now for Fall 2018!

The UAF Program allows enrolled Ph.D. students (including DCE students) who have completed their general examination an opportunity to work in an administrative capacity for up to six hours per week over the course of the fall semester with a host office. Currently accepting applications - early May deadlines have been extended:

- Survey Research Center
- Mudd Manuscript Library
- Princeton University Press - Scholarly Publishing Trend Analysis
- Princeton University Press - Production Editorial Processes and New Technology
- Princeton University Press- Data Visualization and Interactive Design
- Office of Technology Licensing
- Community Based Learning Initiative
- Princeton Writes
Seminar: Analyses/Actions for Potential Commercialization of Your Research
Thursday, May 3rd
9:00 am - 3:00 pm
34 Chambers Street, Room 115

Come hear speaker Ed Zschau '61, who taught a high-tech entrepreneurship course at Princeton from 1997 to 2013, and Darren Hammell ’01, a Gerhard R. Andlinger Visiting Fellow, as they lead Seminar: Analyses/Actions for Potential Commercialization of Your Research. It will address how to assess the commercial potential of your research and how to shape the strategy and the structure of a new enterprise for success. Sponsored by the Keller Center for Innovation in Engineering Education, in collaboration with the Andlinger Center for Energy and the Environment, the Princeton Office of Technology Licensing, the Princeton Entrepreneurship Council, and the Princeton Office of Corporate Engagement and Foundation Relations. To reserve your spot, contact Madison Ebke. For more information, visit HERE.

GradSpeak | Tuesday, May 8th
Tuesday, May 8th
12:00 - 1:30 pm
Dillion Court East, Room E08

Come hone your public speaking skills! Practice among peers can help you learn to relax and communicate clearly with a group, no matter what the occasion. Co-Sponsored by Princeton Writes and the Graduate School. RSVP to pwrites@princeton.edu.

Princeton Research Day | Thursday, May 10
Frist Campus Center
10:30 am - 5:00 pm

Princeton Research Day is a celebration of the research and creative endeavors by our undergraduates, graduate students, postdoctoral researchers and other non faculty researchers. The campus wide event serves as an opportunity for researchers and artists to share their work with the community and includes research from the natural sciences, social sciences, engineering, the arts and humanities. The program features talks, posters, performances, art exhibitions, demonstrations, digital presentations and an awards ceremony for outstanding contributions. The event is free and open to the public. Princeton Research Day is a collaborative initiative between the offices of the Dean of the College, the Dean of the Faculty, the Dean of the Graduate School and the Dean for Research.

For a schedule of events and more information, click HERE.

NEW! Pace Center Graduate Student Fellowships

Metrics Analysis & Communication Fellow
The Metrics Analysis & Communication Fellow will work collaboratively with Pace Center staff in support of the center’s metrics and communications initiatives. The Fellow will conduct interviews with community partners, develop innovative metrics, tools and materials for the communication strategy for the Pace Center. This will enable the center to successfully articulate how it helps students learn to do service well and have a positive impact in the community.

Service Research Fellow
Princetonians are encouraged to dedicate some amount of their time to service during their years at Princeton and beyond, however, what exactly does this mean, specifically to students who are part of Princeton’s graduate student life? How can service support the Princeton graduate student experience? How could Princeton better support the graduate student experience around service?

APPLY: https://pace.princeton.edu/resources/employment

Will you be in Washington, D.C. this summer? If you are, we invite you to join Princeton in Washington! PIW is a program sponsored by the Office of Career Services with support from the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, the Office of Government Affairs and the Princeton Club of Washington, D.C. It brings together Princeton students, alumni and industry professionals in the nation’s capital for speaker and panel discussions, site visits and social events. Participants will meet experienced professionals, learn about careers in public service, connect with peers and explore educational and experiential opportunities throughout the city.

The program is open to all undergraduate and graduate students, as well as recent alumni. There is no application process to join; we only request participants fill out a survey to assist in developing the program and recording contact information. Please fill the interest form out at https://goo.gl/forms/V3xyu9FyiJihMrbC3 - this will also enroll you onto the listserv. There will be an information table at Frist every Tuesday and Friday from 3:30pm to 4:30pm for the next few weeks. Or come to a PIW Study Break on Friday, May 4th, at 4:30pm at the Campus Club Prospect Room, where you can meet other Princeton students interning in D.C. this summer. Visit HERE for more information.

Graduate Student Academic Consultations

Trained Ph.D.s and advanced Ph.D. students from a variety of disciplines can collaborate with you to develop an individualized approach to graduate school that draws upon your unique profile of strengths. and is tailored to the specific demands of your research, courses, teaching, and life. These confidential consultations focus on your personal priorities and tasks. Make an appointment here. Look for appointment slots which indicate “Graduate Consultant” next to the consultant’s name.

Carpe Careers Blog | Should you see a counselor or a coach for career advice?

The field of career services is changing, and one of the most significant changes is a move from a counseling model to a coaching model. For professionals on either side, the subject is wrought with complex implications and opinions. For graduate students looking for the right place to find support for their next career transition, which model works best? Read more...

The Graduate School | Princeton University | 609-258-9675 | Website

Part of The Graduate School's mission is to ensure that our graduate students have the skills they need to succeed professionally as well as academically. Our office and campus partners provide a full range of professional development opportunities and resources for graduate students. We hope you will take full advantage of all the Princeton graduate education has to offer.

Get involved and grow!

Stay Connected